Dear Class of 2012,

I would like to begin by extending my congratulations to each one of you. Another milestone in your academic career has been successfully attained. It is now possible for you to look ahead to high school and beyond with the self-confidence and self-reliance you have developed in your tenure at John F. Kennedy Middle School. As difficult as it is to watch your class leave our learning community in June, we all look forward to hearing about the many contributions you will soon be making to your future schools and the communities that you will someday choose to reside in.

As you reflect back on your middle school years, I am hopeful that they generate a sense of pride and satisfaction in all that you have accomplished. Over the past two years, you have developed a more clear understanding of the unique qualities that you possess, and how to better meet the expectations that have been set for you at school and at home. You have begun to define the type of person you will be recognized as, and you are beginning to develop skills that will help you respond to the many challenges you will face as you transition from adolescence to adulthood. Although you were only in middle school for what seemed like two very short years, you have learned many of the most important lessons you will need to know that will lead to a very successful future.

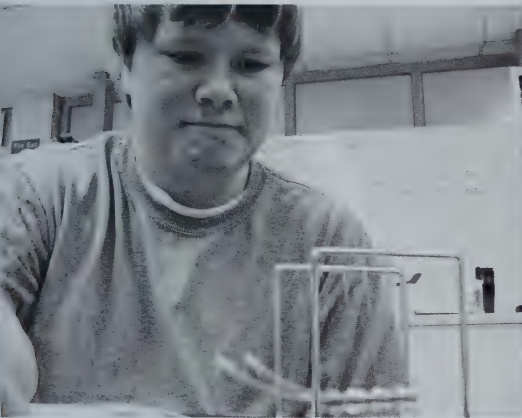

With the wisdom you have gained here, you are well prepared for the bright future that awaits you. Take one day at a time, continue to learn, work hard, and enjoy your journey.

Once again, congratulations and best wishes to you!

Warmly,

Mr. Van Tasel

Reading Department Spotlight

"The unread story is not a story; it is little black marks on wood pulp.
The reader, reading it, makes it live: a live thing, a story."

Ursula K. LeGuin

"Once you learn to read, you will be forever free."
